

SUBSCRIBE
TODAYAN INDEPENDENT
WEEKLY

50c a Year.

VOL. II.

THE CITIZEN

C. REXFORD RAYMOND, Editor.

Published at the office of

THE CITIZEN, Berea, Ky.

Editor of the Post office at Berea, Ky., or second-class mail matter.

IDEAS.

Keep thy tongue from evil, and thy lips from speaking guile. — Bible.

The exclusion of Roberts from Congress has given the Mormons quite a set back. People only need to know about the "latter day saints" in order to avoid them.

To a dear old woman of ninety years we said, "I notice that you do not worry." With a smile she answered, "I've had my troubles, and I have my cares now, but I don't worry other people!"

Pres. Frost preaches at the Baptist Church Sunday, August 12, and at State Lick in the evening at 2:30.

Fall Term begins Sept. 12th, and young people are finding out that it pays to be on hand at the beginning.

Repeal the Gopher Election Law, and rebuke the men that made it.

FOREIGN.

King Humbert of Italy was assassinated July 29, by an anarchist.

Harms reported near Bombay, India, and an improved condition in some of the famine districts.

Rebellion on the Isthmus of Panama was put down after severe fighting. 400 lives lost.

The boundary line between Nicaragua and Costa Rica has been settled. It has been in dispute forty years.

The Boers captured a train July 21, taking 100 British prisoners. Gen. Botha and several thousand Boers have escaped from Lord Roberts.

Still no news from Pekin. Some believe the foreign ministers safe, but held as hostages. It is certain that many missionaries and thousands of native converts have been killed.

NATIONAL.

Tea has advanced four cents a pound on account of the trouble in China.

Last week ten Americans were killed in the Philippines and fourteen wounded. 180 Filipinos were killed and 90 captured.

Quarantine has been declared against Cape Nome and Dutch Harbor, Alaska, on account of small pox epidemic there.

Cuban teachers of the University of Havana who are attending a summer session at Harvard, have had their salaries reduced and some have lost their positions through the trickery of Cuban officials of public instruction.

Much disorder and rioting took place in New Orleans subsequent to the shooting by a Negro named Charles of several white policemen. Twelve persons were killed and twenty-eight wounded before Charles was shot and order restored.

KENTUCKY.

Fire at Elkhorn Sunday destroyed two grocery stores, entailing a loss of $10,000.

People's party convention meets in Louisville today to nominate a candidate for governor.

An extra session of the legislature will be called by Gov. Beckham in the next ten days to consider the election law amendments.

Caleb Powers was put on the stand Monday in his own defense. He denies all the incriminating statements attributed to him by Culton, Golden and Neeks.

Where the digestion is good, and the general powers of the system in a healthy state, worms can find no habitation in the human body. White's Cream Vermifuge not only destroys every worm, but corrects all derangements of the digestive organs. Price 25 cts. S. E. Welch, Jr.

The Lexington Horse Show, Fair and Carnival at Lexington, Aug. 13-18. Excursion rates on all railroads.

THE CITIZEN.

Devoted to the Interests of the Home, School, and Farm.

BEREA, MADISON COUNTY, KENTUCKY, WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 1, 1890.

50c a Year

NO. 7.

101

101

Killing.

George Ballard, son of Murdie Ballard, shot and instantly killed Thomas L. Johnson at the Berea depot about seven o'clock Saturday evening. In the absence of Coroner Brown, Justice J. L. Bigg held an inquest over the body, which it is claimed developed some very dramatic features, and George Ballard Johnson, was about 40 years old and leaves a wife and eight children Ballard's widow is a widow. After the killing, Ballard escaped and was not arrested till early Tuesday morning, when he surrendered to Dept. Sheriff E. M. Preston and was taken to Richmond and lodged in jail.

The horse and buggy which was stolen from Mr. W. B. Smith a few nights ago, were found in Winchester. Mr. Smith, accompanied by Capt. Allman, went over and identified the rig. A colored man by the name of Ben Burton has been arrested as a suspect.

Saturday evening a Democratic Club was organized in Berea called the Glade Democratic Club. Forty-seven members were enrolled. The following officers were elected: J. M. Earley, President; J. W. Chaney, Secretary; A. T. Fish, Treasurer. The club will meet Aug. 11.

The recent rains have caused a tide in the Kentucky river, and thousands of logs have been caught in the booms and as a consequence the lumber mills at Irvine, Ford and Valley View which have been closed down for some time on account of the lack of timber, started up Monday morning.—Panhandle.

Blotches and excrescences, which so often annoy people, are simply efforts of nature to throw off impediments to the proper performance of her duties. Herbage will aid and assist nature in her work, and insure a skin clear and beautiful, entirely free from all imperfections. Price 50 cts. S. E. Welch, Jr.

We propose to get the best ideas that can be found on all such practical and important matters and pass them around among our readers. The resources of Berea College are not for its students alone. The editor of this paper can at any time step into the largest College library in the State, and he has engaged several of the most distinguished instructors in the College to take charge of special departments in the paper. Those who are visited by THE CITIZEN will know what is going on in the world. Every week it will tell them something worth knowing.

The CITIZEN is pledged to no party. It is every man's friend. It stands for the things which benefit all—temperance, thrift, kindness, enterprise, and education. And we ask all who believe in these things to subscribe for THE CITIZEN.

The party given by the Misses Richardson, Friday evening, at their beautiful home on Center street, was one of the most enjoyable social affairs of the season. The yard was lighted by Japanese lanterns. Twenty-four packages of candy had been hidden in various places on the lawn for which the happy couples hunted. Ice cream and cake were served during the evening and ere the chimes from the belfry pealed forth the "wee small" hours, the jolly crowd had departed.

With few exceptions those who received invitations to Miss Fish's party Monday evening heartily responded, for the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fish has long been noted for its hospitality and good times. This social event was to celebrate the seventeenth birthday of their only daughter. Miss Fish has been in society only a short time but she has already been the recipient of many compliments. Refreshments were served at ten o'clock. Hunting peanuts for which prizes were given to the ones finding the most and least and unravelling the spider web were features of the evening.

We are prepared to cloth you with the lowest-priced, rightly-made, absolutely all wool Clothing in America. Rightly-made, as it is of famous "Vital" Brand, the only ready-to-wear Clothing Tailored on a strictly scientific basis in clean, well-ventilated workrooms. Perfect fitting and wear-resisting, because the inside, the "Vital," the very life of the garment, is carefulness in making, represents the expenditure of time and thought, and is a decided contrast to the tailoring seen in ordinary ready-to-wear Clothing. The fabrics that we show are the very newest designs that will be seen this season. Many confined exclusively to us, in the face of the above facts. The most extraordinary feature combining our great offer is, that we can and do sell our Clothing at

LESS MONEY

Than elsewhere. How can we afford to sell such high-grade Clothing for less money than elsewhere? Our answer is pure and simple. Ours is a modern store, constructed strictly on progressive plans, our Clothing is sold on the smallest margin of profit, depending on a large volume or business. The more Clothing we sell, the greater our purchasing power the lower our prices, that's the story in nutshell.

COVINGTON &amp; MITCHELL

RICHMOND - - KENTUCKY

101

. . . FOR CASH . . .

Having adopted The CASH System, our prices have been reduced to meet the demands of the CASH trade. You can buy more goods for CASH than on credit.

Call and examine our large stock of Women and Men's fine Footwear and Gent's Furnishings at prices much lower than ever before. Call and be Convinced.

DOUGLAS, BRIGHT & CO.
207 West Main Street. RICHMOND, KY.

The Berea Monument Co.

The result of good work and reasonably prices is that we now have customers in all parts of the State. When you want

Anything in the monument line

Let us know and we will send you designs and prices

Headstones, $6.00 up to any amount.

.. Marble and Granite Monuments ...

At prices to suit the times. Material and work first-class.

JOHN HARWOOD, Prop. Berea, Ky.

WHITE'S CREAM WORMS! VERMIFUGE
For 20 Years Has Led all Worm Remedies. Every Bottle GUARANTEED
SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
Prepared by JAMES F. BALLARD, St. Louis
Sold by S. E. WELCH, Jr. 1-17-01

BOOKS

BY

WILLIAM E. BARTON.

A Hero in Homespun. A Tale of the Year 1863. A historical novel with illustrations by D. B. Board. $1.50

Gullion's Daughter-In-Law, and The Truth about the Troublesome Boundstone. Two pretty little Southern stories, with illustrations &amp; cover design of sweet and lovely design. $1.00 postpaid for Old Plantation Hymns. A collection of old-time negro spirituals, with the slave's freedom, with historical and descriptive notes. In paper. 25 cents. Bound in boards. $1.50

The Poets and Their Story. A series of the Poets as related to history. Two volumes in a box with gilt top. $2.00. Special introductory price postpaid.

The Story of a Pumpkin Pie. A children's book, in cloth, strung by A. W. W. for children. $1.00. Postpaid for children. 75 cents. Special introductory price postpaid.

Pine Knot. A Story of Kent. 1866. A novel full of the atmosphere of the quiet, quiet, quiet life, with a wealth of atmosphere, and also some historical value, since it purports to be based upon the anti-slavery movement. The author has not only utilized a numerous legend of his own, but has also

The above books will be sent postpaid by

The College Bookstore. 6-28-00

Berea, Ky.

J. C. MORGAN, Dental Surgery.

Office Hours, 8 to 12 A.M., 1 to 3 P.M. National Bank Building

Richmond, Ky. 6-28-00

DENTAL SURGERY.

A. WILKES SMITH, D. D. S.

Smith Building, Main Street,

Richmond, Ky.

Telephone Residence, No. 62, Office, No. 40. 6-28-00

REPAIR THAT LOOM!

GIRLS who wish an education at Berea will receive good pay for articles of home manufacture.

Bring them to Matron of Ladies' Hall for inspection, and she will give order to Treasurer for payment.

YARD.

Good Homespun Linen, 40c

" " Linesey, 50c

Patent does not receive.

Old fashioned Indigo blue preferred.

Good Homespun Jeans, 50c

" Dress Flannel, 60c

Good Coverlets, well woven and matched, from four to six dollars.

CONSUMPTION

25 CTS PISO'S CURE FOR

CURES WHERE ALL ELSE FAILS.

Best Cough Syrup. Tastes Good. Use

in time. Sold by druggists.

25 CTS

CURE

A BOON TO MANKIND!

D. TABLER'S BUCKEYE PILE

TABLER'S BUCKE

THE CITIZEN.

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER

BEREA - KENTUCKY.

Col. David B. Henderson, speaker of the federal house of representatives, is spending the summer with Mrs. Henderson in the Adirondacks. Later he will leave for Paris to visit the exposition.

It is something of a mistake to suppose that women in China have no rights that a man is not bound to respect. The idea that she is of no importance is altogether incorrect. In her home, as a wife, she exercises an authority that would make a denizen of the western world gap with wonder.

It is suggested that it will be profitable to try the experiment of using gas engines for driving ships, the gas being generated on the vessel itself. Coal will be roasted in retorts aboard the ship in order to drive off the gas for the engines. The coke thus produced would furnish the fuel needed to roast the coal.

The roses in the famous wooded island at the World's fair grounds in Chicago are said to be just as fine now as they were during the fair. Planted in 1892, the year before the fair, they are still wonderfully beautiful. They form one of the memories of the fair that will linger long in the minds of those who saw them.

It is always difficult to secure a quorum in the New York city council. At a recent meeting the necessary number of members failed to attend, and the president was about to send the sergeant-at-arms after some absents, when it was learned that the officer named was himself absent, and that he had not attended a meeting for months.

Two thousand Chicago saloons will go out of business on October 1. Computations made justify the assertion, which means that the revenue of the city will fall off $1,000,000 from that source alone. It is said that the rise in the price of beer is the principal reason for the falling off. At present there are 5,700 saloons in Chicago, which is 1,300 less than five years ago.

M. P. Castle, of London, has sold his collection of European postage stamps for $150,000, which is believed to be the biggest price ever paid. Now that the Orange Free State has been taken off the map as an independent republic, collectors are paying as much as $25 for a single stamp of that government, and the price is rising. A full set of Transvaal stamps would now cost about $500.

Miss French ("Octave Thanet") possesses a novel accomplishment, rare among writers. She has remarkable ability as a mimic and is able to enter into an impromptu conversation between two or more imaginary persons, modifying her voice to represent different characters. Indeed, the dramatic element is so strongly developed in Miss French that had she not found success with the pen she would have won fame as a comedienne.

Although Mary is believed to be the commoner of the names of women, the wife of only one president was so named—Mary Todd Lincoln. There were two Marthas (both from Virginia), Martha Washington and Martha Jefferson; two Abigails, the wives of Presidents Fillmore and John Adams, and two Elizas, Mrs. Monroe and Mrs. Johnson. Of the two wives of the other presidents no two had the same Christian names.

Among the missionaries in China of whom news is anxiously awaited there are no less than eighteen graduates and former students of the University of Michigan, thirteen women and five men. Of these five are, or were, if they have not been killed, in Peking, including Mr. and Mrs. Henry E. King, both instructors in the University of Peking and classmates at Ann Arbor. Most of the graduate are medical missionaries.

Queen Victoria has at her disposal when she wishes to take a ride innumerable carriages. Of these the coronation coach is first. This carriage is unknown to the present generation, as it has never left the royal mews at Buckingham palace since 1851. It is lovely, but cumbersome, was designed by George III, and every portion is richly decorated and gilded. Outside its panels are pictures painted by noted artists.

A good example of the way the Boer war has divided South African families is found in that of which Montagu White, the Boer envoy to this country, is a member. He is known for his loyalty to the Boer cause. His brother is a lieutenant in the Strathcona horse. He served in the Natal mounted police in the last Zulu war and then became a member of the Canadian mounted police, in which he was at the outbreak of the present war.

No nation on the face of the earth compares with the United States as a fruit-eating country. Not only does this country consume enormous amounts of fresh fruits in the shape of apples, pears, peaches and small fruits, like berries, but the amount preserved by various processes is far in excess of the amount used in European countries. Other nations are now giving the matter the attention it deserves. Especially is this so in Germany, where the question has been investigated for the German Agricultural society.

DON'T LET THE SONG GO.

Don't let the song go out of your life; Though it chance sometimes to flow In a minor strain, it will blend again With the major tone, you know.

What though shadows rise to obscure life's skies, And hide for a time the sun; Then another will lift, and reveal the rift, If you let the melody run.

Don't let the song go out of your life; Though your voice may have lost its trill, Though the tremulous note should die in the throat, Let it sing in your spirit still.

There is never a pain that hides not some gain.

And never a cup of rue So bitter to sip but what in the cup Lurks a measure of sweetness too.

Don't let the song go out of your life; Ah! it never would need to go If with thought more true and a broader view.

We looked at this life below.

Oh, why should we mean that life's spring-time has flown.

Or sigh for the fair summer time?

The autumn hath days filled with poems of praise.

And the winter hath bells that chime.

Don't let the song go out of your life; Let it ring in the soul while here, And when you go hence, it shall follow you thence.

And sing on in another sphere.

Then do not despair, and say that the fond, Sweet songs of youth have flown.

For every song I saw a song that was true.

It is still your own.

—Kate R. Stiles, in Boston Transcript.

THE STURGIS WAGER.

A DETECTIVE STORY.

By EDGAR MORETTE.

Copyright, 1899, by Frederick A. Stokes Co.

CHAPTER III.—CONTINUED.

"I beg to suggest," remarked Dunlap, "that the shots heard by the policeman, that the shots heard by the policeman and his prisoner were not fired from the inside of the bank."

"That appears quite likely," admitted Murdock; "but they must at any rate have been fired in close proximity to the bank, since the witnesses agree that they appeared to come from inside. In that case, whence were they fired? By whom? And why? On the whole, my little puzzle does not seem to me so ill-chosen. What is your own opinion, Mr. Sturgis?"

"I quite agree with you that the problem is probably not so simple as it seemed at first blush to Sprague."

"Very well. Then doubtless you are willing to undertake the task of supplying whatever data may be required to complete the chain of evidence against Quinlan?"

"By no means," replied Sturgis, decidedly.

"Indeed? Ah! well, of course, if Mr. Sturgis wishes to withdraw his bet?"

"I do not wish to withdraw my bet," said Sturgis; "I will agree to solve your problem within 30 days or to forfeit my stakes; but I cannot undertake to prove the truth or falsity of any a priori theory. I have no personal knowledge of the matter as yet, and therefore no theory."

"Quite so," observed Murdock, ironically. "I had forgotten your scientific methods. Of course, it may turn out that it was the policeman who stole the pistol shots."

"Perhaps," answered Sturgis, imperceptibly.

Murdock smiled.

"Well, gentlemen," said he, "I accept Mr. Sturgis' conditions. If you are willing," he continued, turning to the reporter, "our host will hold the stakes and decide the wager."

"I, for one, agree with Sprague," said Dr. Thurston. "I am disappointed in the problem. I have seen Sturgis unravel some extremely puzzling tangles in my day; and each case would not be hard to find. Why, no longer ago than this evening, on our way here, we stumbled upon a most peculiar case—oh—oh!—er—please pass the cognac, Sprague. I wish I had some like it in my cellar; it is worth its weight in gold."

Dr. Thurston had met Sturgis' steady gaze and had understood that, for some reason or other, the reporter did not wish him to relate their adventure of the afternoon.

Only one person appeared to notice the abrupt termination of his story. This was Murdock, who had looked up at the speaker with mild curiosity, and who had also intercepted the reporter's warning glance at his friend. He observed Dr. Thurston narrowly for a full minute, appeared to enjoy his clumsy effort to cover his retreat, and then quietly sipped his coffee.

CHAPTER IV.

THE BANK PRESIDENT.

Sprague's dinner party was over, and among the first to take their leave, shortly after midnight, were Dunlap, Sturgis and Dr. Thurston.

The reporter did not often spend an evening in worldly dissipation. He was a man of action, a hard worker and an enthusiastic student. Almost all of the time which was not actually spent in the pursuit of his profession, was devoted to study in many widely different fields of art and science. For Sturgis' ideal of his profession was high; he held that almost every form of knowledge was essential to success in his line of work. It was evident, therefore, that he allowed himself to spend precious evenings in social intercourse, unless as a more or less direct means to some end. He had made an exception in favor of Sprague's dinner, and his meeting with Dunlap, whom he had not previously known, had been entirely incidental.

Dunlap was, however, a man whom Sturgis needed to see in the course of his study of the Knickerbocker bank mystery, and he had not lost the opportunity which chance had placed in his way. After obtaining an introduction to the bank president, the reporter had sought an occasion to speak with him in private; and, as this did not present itself during the course of the evening, he had timed his departure so that it should coincide with that of Dunlap. Dr. Thurston had followed his friend's lead.

"Are you going down to the bank this evening, Mr. Dunlap?" asked Sturgis, as the trio faced the bleak wind.

"I? No. Why should I?" inquired the banker, in apparent surprise.

"I see no particular reason why you should," replied the reporter. "It to-day were a hunking day, there would be no time to lose. But since it is New Year's day, there is little, if any, chance of the trail being disturbed; and it will be much easier to find it in broad daylight than by gaslight. Our friends of the central office are usually pretty clever in discovering at least the more evident clues in a case of this sort, even when they have not the ability to correctly interpret them. And since they have completely failed in their search to-night, we must anticipate a more than ordinarily difficult puzzle."

"Why, Mr. Sturgis," said Dunlap, somewhat anxiously. "You talk as though you really believed that some mysterious crime has been committed at the bank."

"I do not know enough about the case as yet to advance any positive belief in the matter," said Sturgis; "but if we assume as correct the circumstances related in the article which Dr. Murdock read to us this evening, they certainly present an extraordinary aspect."

Dunlap reflected for an instant.

"Still, the fact that our enquirer found everything in good order at the bank is in itself completely reassuring," he said, musingly.

"Very likely," assented Sturgis. "It is quite possible that from a banker's point of view the problem is wholly devoid of interest; but from a detective's standpoint it appears to be full of promising features. Therefore, whether or not you intend to look farther into the matter yourself, I beg you will at least authorize me to make a survey of the field by daylight in the morning."

Dunlap looked anything but pleased as the reporter spoke these words. He thought before replying.

"Frankly, Mr. Sturgis," he said, at length, with studied courtesy, "I will not conceal the fact that what you ask places me in a rather awkward position. You are a friend of my friend Sprague, and my personal intercourse with you this evening has been pleasant enough to make me hope that, in the future, I may be so fortunate as to include you in my own circle of acquaintances. Therefore, on personal grounds, it would give me great pleasure to grant your request. But, on the other hand, you are a journalist and I am a banker; and it is with banks as with nations—happy that which has no history. Capital is proverbially timid, you know."

"I see," said Sturgis; "you fear that the reputation of the Knickerbocker bank may suffer if the mystery of the pistol shots is solved."

"No, no, my dear sir; not at all.

You quite misunderstand me," replied the banker, with just a shade of warmth.

"It is not a question of the bank's credit exactly, since there has been neither robbery nor defalcation; but depositors do not like to see the name of their bank mentioned in the newspapers; they take fright at once. Depositors are most unreasonable beings, Mr. Sturgis; they are liable to become panic-stricken on the most insignificant provocation; and then they run amuck like mad sheep. The Knickerbocker bank does not fear any man who has the reputation of being a scoundrel. Therefore, I maintain that he who was in the habit of working at a desk, though not new, are not baggy at the complished, the history of the crime is practically completed. Detection of crime is an exact science. Here, as in all other sciences, the imagination has an important part to play, but that part consists in coordinating and interpreting facts. The solid foundation of facts must invariably come first."

CHAPTER V.

A FOUNDATION OF FACTS.

When the two men were comfortably settled in the reporter's study, Sturgis produced pipes, tobacco and writing materials.

"There, now," said he, as he prepared to write, "I begin with what I shall call the Cab Mystery. The data in this case are already plentiful and curious. I shall read as I write, and you can interrupt for suggestions and criticisms, as the points occur to you. In the first place, the dead man is about fifty years old, and was employed in some commercial house or financial institution, probably bookkeeper, at a fairly good salary."

"Hold on there, Sturgis," laughed Thurston. "I thought you were going to build up a solid foundation of facts before you allowed your imagination to run riot!"

"Well?" inquired the reporter, in apparent surprise.

"Well, the only fact you have mentioned is the approximate age of the dead man. The rest is pure assumption. How can you know anything certain about his occupation and the amount of his salary?"

"True; I forgot you had not followed the steps in the process of induction. Here they are: the dead man's sleeves, on the under side below the elbow were worn shiny. This shows that his occupation is at a desk of some kind."

"Or behind a counter," suggested Thurston quizzically.

"No. Your hypothesis is untenable. A clerk behind a counter occasionally, it is true, leans upon his forearms. But incessant contact with the counter leaves across the front of his trousers an unmistakable line of wear, at a level varying according to the height of the individual. This line was not present in the case of the man in the cab, on the other hand, his waistcoat is frayed at the level of the fourth button from the top. Therefore I maintain that he was in the habit of working at a desk. Now the trousers, although not new, are not baggy at the bottom, in which it might have fallen.

"It is not the least puzzling of this interesting case," said Sturgis, impressively; "the shooting was not done in the cab."

"Not lone in the cab?"

"No; otherwise the bullet would have remained in the cushions; and it was not there."

"It might have fallen out into the street at the time of the collision," suggested Thurston.

"Or behind a counter," suggested Thurston quizzically.

"No. Your hypothesis is untenable. A clerk behind a counter occasionally, it is true, leans upon his forearms. But incessant contact with the counter leaves across the front of his trousers an unmistakable line of wear, at a level varying according to the height of the individual. This line was not present in the case of the man in the cab, on the other hand, his waistcoat is frayed at the level of the fourth button from the top. Therefore I maintain that he was in the habit of working at a desk. Now the trousers, although not new, are not baggy at the bottom, in which it might have fallen.

"It is not the least puzzling of this interesting case," said Sturgis, impressively; "the shooting was not done in the cab."

"Not lone in the cab?"

"No. Your hypothesis is untenable. A clerk behind a counter occasionally, it is true, leans upon his forearms. But incessant contact with the counter leaves across the front of his trousers an unmistakable line of wear, at a level varying according to the height of the individual. This line was not present in the case of the man in the cab, on the other hand, his waistcoat is frayed at the level of the fourth button from the top. Therefore I maintain that he was in the habit of working at a desk. Now the trousers, although not new, are not baggy at the bottom, in which it might have fallen.

"It is not the least puzzling of this interesting case," said Sturgis, impressively; "the shooting was not done in the cab."

"Not lone in the cab?"

"No. Your hypothesis is untenable. A clerk behind a counter occasionally, it is true, leans upon his forearms. But incessant contact with the counter leaves across the front of his trousers an unmistakable line of wear, at a level varying according to the height of the individual. This line was not present in the case of the man in the cab, on the other hand, his waistcoat is frayed at the level of the fourth button from the top. Therefore I maintain that he was in the habit of working at a desk. Now the trousers, although not new, are not baggy at the bottom, in which it might have fallen.

"It is not the least puzzling of this interesting case," said Sturgis, impressively; "the shooting was not done in the cab."

"Not lone in the cab?"

"No. Your hypothesis is untenable. A clerk behind a counter occasionally, it is true, leans upon his forearms. But incessant contact with the counter leaves across the front of his trousers an unmistakable line of wear, at a level varying according to the height of the individual. This line was not present in the case of the man in the cab, on the other hand, his waistcoat is frayed at the level of the fourth button from the top. Therefore I maintain that he was in the habit of working at a desk. Now the trousers, although not new, are not baggy at the bottom, in which it might have fallen.

"It is not the least puzzling of this interesting case," said Sturgis, impressively; "the shooting was not done in the cab."

"Not lone in the cab?"

"No. Your hypothesis is untenable. A clerk behind a counter occasionally, it is true, leans upon his forearms. But incessant contact with the counter leaves across the front of his trousers an unmistakable line of wear, at a level varying according to the height of the individual. This line was not present in the case of the man in the cab, on the other hand, his waistcoat is frayed at the level of the fourth

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL.

Lesson in the International Series for August 5, 1880—Jesus and the Children.

Prepared by H. C. Lexington.
THE LESSON TEXT.
(Matthew 19:14)

1. At the same time came the disciples unto Jesus, saying, Who is the greatest in the kingdom of Heaven?

2. And Jesus called a little child unto him, and set him in the midst of them.

3. And said, Verily I say unto you, except ye be converted, and become as these children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of Heaven.

4. Whosoever therefore shall humble himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of Heaven.

5. And whoso shall receive one such little child in My name receiveth Me.

6. But whoso shall offend one of these little ones which believe in Me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea.

7. Woe unto the world because of offenses! for it must needs be that offenses come; but woe to that man by whom the offense cometh!

8. Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee; it is better for thee to enter into life halff or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire.

9. And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee; it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire.

10. Take heed that ye despise not one of these little ones, for I say unto you, that in Heaven their angels do always behold the face of My Father, which is in Heaven.

11. For the Son of Man is come to save that which is lost.

12. How think ye? If a man have an hundred sheep, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and seeketh that which is gone astray?

13. And if so be that he find it, verily I say unto you, he rejoiceth more of that sheep, than of the ninety and nine which went not astray.

14. Even so it is not the will of your Father which is in Heaven, that one of these little ones should perish.

OLD TEST.—Suffer the little children to come unto Me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of God.—Mark 10:14.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Strange as it may appear to us, the transfiguration scene and the healing of the demoniac boy was followed by a more or less friendly wrangle concerning who should be greatest in the kingdom of Heaven. Still, considering the materialistic views of the disciples of the kingdom Christ was to found, it is not so very strange. They had yet to learn that greatness in the Heavenly kingdom depended upon things other than those that often make for prominence of position in earthly relations.

An Object Lesson.—It was to teach His disciples some of the qualities of superior Christian character that He chose a child in their midst. "Except," He says, "ye become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of Heaven," and the emphasis is put upon the humility of the child nature. "Whosoever therefore humbleth himself as this little child, the same is greatest in the kingdom of Heaven." Emphasis is upon the "humbleth." To many a mind humility has been given a false meaning. Dickens' "Humble Brute" is but a parody on humility, not the genuine article. Webster defines "humble" as being "near the ground; not proud or assuming." The trouble is that the word has been commonly confounded with some of the synonyms of the word. To abase, lower, humiliate, mortify, degrade, are given as synonyms. But we remember that no two English words mean exactly the same thing. So humility is not abasement or self-lowering, but putting oneself in his right relation, not thinking more highly of himself than he ought to think. It is preeminently a Christian virtue and should be studiously cultivated.

Stumbling Stones.—This thought gives rise to another in the mind of Jesus. The child can easily be turned toward the right or the wrong, therefore, "who shall offend one of these little ones which believe in Me, it were better for him that a millstone were hanged about his neck, and that he were drowned in the depth of the sea." Then Jesus goes on to say that offenses must needs come to every life, young or old. The heart envies in itself the needs of temptation and sin, but "woe to that man by whom the offense cometh," or to that man who makes it easier for another to yield to temptation or commit sin.

Drastic Measures Suggested.—Returning to the thought of disciplining oneself, Jesus says: "Wherefore if thy hand or thy foot offend thee (or are a means of sin and temptation), cut them off. . . . It is better for thee to enter into life halff or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire." It is an illustration of the principle He had just enunciated, and the further thought that absolute sacrifice of self may become necessary to the inheritance of eternal life.

Inable of the Lost Sheep.—This parable becomes the point of the lesson. Earlier Christ has said: "Cultivate the spirit of humility." Then follows the injunction to help others, especially the little children who are easily led, to enter the right way. Now He says, in effect: Strive to do in your sphere of influence what I am doing, "for the Son of Man is come to save that which is lost."

Strike Them Into Characters.

Only those truths which have become ourselves become spontaneous and involuntary. Instinctive and unconscious, are really our life; that is to say, something more than our property.—Amiel's Journal.

God's Will.

God of joy and of grief, do with me what thou wilt; grief is good and joy is good also. Thou art leading me now through joy. I take it from Thy hands, and I give Thee thanks for it.—Amiel.

TAKING THE CENSUS.

AN ENUMERATOR Meets with One Woman Who Didn't Whithold Any of the Details.

"Oh, yes, I know you are the census man. Warm day, take a seat. I've gotten all the facts for you. My husband, John Moore, is 10; I am 32; we have seven children; they are all well now."

"Huh?" put in the census man, relates the Pittsburgh Chronicle.

"Yes, yes; you needn't ask me any questions. I'm telling you fast as I can. Tommy, our oldest boy, had the measles when he was three. He first began to walk when he was eight months old and the day after he was ten months old he could walk clear around the room without holding on to anything. He fell down the stairs when he was four years three months and thirteen days old, but it didn't hurt him any, and he liked ice cream from the first time he ever tasted it. I can't get him to eat gravy, but he had his first piece of steak when he was 10 months old. Johnnie, the next to the oldest—"

"Molam, stop, stop," cried the enumerator, "answer my questions. I don't want to know any more about your children."

And then the woman got angry and left.

8. Wherefore If thy hand or thy foot offend thee, cut them off, and cast them from thee; it is better for thee to enter into life halff or maimed, rather than having two hands or two feet to be cast into everlasting fire.

9. And if thine eye offend thee, pluck it out, and cast it from thee; it is better for thee to enter into life with one eye, rather than having two eyes to be cast into hell fire.

10. Take heed that ye despise not one of these little ones, for I say unto you, that in Heaven their angels do always behold the face of My Father, which is in Heaven.

11. For the Son of Man is come to save that which is lost.

12. How think ye? If a man have an hundred sheep, doth he not leave the ninety and nine, and goeth into the mountains, and seeketh that which is gone astray?

13. And if so be that he find it, verily I say unto you, he rejoiceth more of that sheep, than of the ninety and nine which went not astray.

14. Even so it is not the will of your Father which is in Heaven, that one of these little ones should perish.

OLD TEST.—Suffer the little children to come unto Me and forbid them not, for of such is the kingdom of God.—Mark 10:14.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Strange as it may appear to us, the transfiguration scene and the healing of the demoniac boy was followed by a more or less friendly wrangle concerning who should be greatest in the kingdom of Heaven. Still, considering the materialistic views of the disciples of the kingdom Christ was to found, it is not so very strange. They had yet to learn that greatness in the Heavenly kingdom depended upon things other than those that often make for prominence of position in earthly relations.

An Object Lesson.—It was to teach His disciples some of the qualities of superior Christian character that He chose a child in their midst. "Except," He says, "ye become as little children, ye shall not enter into the kingdom of Heaven," and the emphasis is put upon the humility of the child nature.

Marquette, on Lake Superior, is one of the most charming summer resorts reached via the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway.

Its healthful location, beautiful scenery, good hotels and complete immunity from hay fever, make a summer outing at Marquette, Mich., very attractive from the standpoint of health, rest and comfort.

For a copy of "The Lake Superior Country," containing a description of Marquette and the copper country, address, with two 10 cent postage stamps, to post office, New Haven, General Passenger Agent, Chicago, Ill.

It is one of the mysteries that a man who has given his heart irreversibly to a woman, still has the heart to refuse her a new home.—Detroit Journal.

The Best Prescription for Chills and Fever is a bottle of Dr. Tarr's Tarrate. Tarrate is simply unadulterated and tasteless form. No cure—in any price, 50c.

"My wife," boasted the happy young wedded, "is an open book to me." "Mine, too," declared the old married man, "I can't shut her up."—Philadelphia Press.

All the Kentucky belles chew Kisme Gum. They like it.

Many an illiterate man is able to make his tolls mark.—Chicago Daily News.

MARSH REPORT.

Cincinnati, July 25.

CATTLE—Common . . . $7.25 (6) 4.25

Select butchers . . . 10 (6) 5.15

CALVES—Extra . . . . . (6) 7.00

HOGS—Select packers . . . 5.35 (6) 5.40

Mixed packers . . . . . 5.30 (6) 5.35

SHEEP—Wethers . . . . . 3.75 (6) 4.10

LAMBS—Extra . . . . . 5.90 (6) 6.00

PIGEON—Spring p. . . . . 4.20 (6) 4.80

WHEAT—No. 2 red. . . . . 60 77

CORN—No. 2 mixed. . . . . 60 43

OATS—No. 2 mixed. . . . . 60 27

RYE—No. 2 . . . . . 60 60

HAY—Choice timothy . . . . . 60 14.75

MESS PORK . . . . . 60 12.05

LARD—Steam . . . . . 60 6.05

BUTTER—Ch. dairy . . . . . 60 11

Choicer creamery . . . . . 60 24

APPLES—Ch. to fancy . . . . . 60 2.75

POTATOES—Per bush. 1.10 (6) 1.25

TOBACCO—New . . . . . 60 16.75

Old . . . . . 60 11.75

CHICAGO.

FLOUR—Wm. patent . . . . . 3.90 (6) 4.10

WHEAT—No. 2 red. . . . . 60 76.1

No. 3 spring . . . . . 60 71

CORN—No. 2 . . . . . 60 38.0

RATS—No. 2 . . . . . 21 (6) 21.1

RYE . . . . . 60 52.2

PORK—Mess . . . . . 11.10 (6) 11.60

LARD—Steam . . . . . 6.55 (6) 6.67.2

NEW YORK.

FLOUR—Wm. patent . . . . . 3.90 (6) 4.30

WHEAT—No. 2 red. . . . . 60 82.7

CORN—No. 2 mixed . . . . . 40.80 (6) 45

RATS—No. 2 mixed . . . . . 60 27

RYE . . . . . 60 59.0

PORK—Mess . . . . . 12.75 (6) 13.50

LARD—Steam . . . . . 7.05 (6) 7.15

BALTIMORE.

WHEAT—No. 2 red. . . . . 60 70

Southern . . . . . 60 71

CORN—No. 2 mixed . . . . . 41.50 (6) 41.5

RATS—No. 2 mixed . . . . . 25.70 (6) 25

CATTLE—First qual. . . . . 5.10 (6) 5.25

HOGS—Western . . . . . 6.00 (6) 6.10

INDIANAPOLIS.

WHEAT—No. 2 red. . . . . 60 75

CORN—No. 2 mixed . . . . . 60 42.5

OATS—No. 2 mixed . . . . . 60 25.1

DRUGGISTS.

LOUISVILLE.

WHEAT—No. 2 red. . . . . 60 70

CORN—No. 2 red. . . . . . 60 73

MIXED . . . . . 60 41.5

OATS—Mixed . . . . . 60 13.00

PORK—Mess . . . . . 60 13.00

LARD—Steam . . . . . 60 7.00

UNIVERSITY OF NOTRE DAME, Notre Dame, Ind.

We call the attention of our readers to the advertisement of Notre Dame University, one of the great educational institutions of the West, which appears in another column of this paper. Those of our readers who may have occasion to look up a college for their sons during the coming year would do well to correspond with the President, who will send them a catalogue free of charge, as well as all particulars regarding terms, courses of studies, etc.

There is a thorough preparatory school in connection with the University, in which students of all grades will have every opportunity of preparing themselves for higher studies. The Commercial Course intended for young men preparing for business, may be finished in one or two years, according to the ability of the student. Sir Edward's Hall, for boys under thirteen, is an unique department of the institution. The higher courses are thorough in every respect, and students will find every opportunity of perfecting themselves in any line of work they may choose to select. Thoroughness in class-work, exactness in the care of students, and devotion to the best interests of all, are the distinguishing characteristics of Notre Dame University.

Fifty-six years of active work in the cause of education have made this institution famous all over the country.

MILLIONS FOR BASEBALL.

A million of dollars are spent every year on the game of baseball, but as large as this sum is, it cannot begin to equal the amount spent by men in search of health. There is a sure method of obtaining strength, and it is not a costly one. We urge those who have spent much and lost hope to try HOLLOWELL'S STOMACH BITTERS. It strengthens the stomach, makes digestion easy and natural, and cures dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness and weak kidneys.

ACCORDING TO HIS CREDIT.

What Your Child May Get From Berea College.

As we explained last week Berea College is a gift to the people, placed in the care of Trustees who are to manage it for the benefit of the people in the ways laid down in the Constitution.

The trustees are bound to use the property placed in their hands for just one purpose—Christian Education.

The object of Berea College is not to provide work for people, nor to lend money, nor anything else except the one thing—to help fathers and mothers get the best education for their children. And we believe that this is the greatest benefit that could possibly be given. It is better than if the college could give a cow to every girl and a span of mules to every boy!

If the boy and girl are rightly educated they can get cows and mules for themselves, and will know how to take care of them, and how to get the good things in life, and be useful and honored citizens. The education that Berea brings will enable the young people of Kentucky and surrounding states to develop the resources of their beautiful country, and spread prosperity through all the churches and homes of a wide region.

There are some things that every young man or young lady who attends Berea will be sure to get. Each one will learn what education means. He will see a real library, and a great deal of scientific apparatus, and will begin to know what science and knowledge there is in the world. This he could never know at any of the little one horse schools near his home. And each one will get some instruction in singing, and in the use of tools, and in keeping accounts. Best of all each one will learn how to behave in good society, how to meet people, and will have the inspiring companionship of Christian young people and Christian teachers. They will thus get habits of good behavior that will help them all their lives.

Many of the students at Berea are in what are called the "Model-schools." These schools are more advanced than some so-called colleges, but they are really fitting young people to teach, or to begin some of the advanced courses. There are one to three teachers in each grade, so that the work is sure to be thorough and rapid.

For those who have completed the work of the Model Schools, or who hold a good teacher's certificate, Berea offers

A Choice between Three Courses.

First, the Applied Science Course. This course occupies only two years, and is the best course for most young people. It contains the most practical sciences; and the history and other studies that make good citizens.

For the young men in this course there are studies in use of tools; Botany, which means the growth of plants; Gardening, Care of Stock, Farm Management, and other things that make successful farmers.

For the young women there are courses in Sewing, Dress-making, Gardening, Cooking, Care of the Sick, and other things that make a good house-keeper.

Every family ought to have at least one son or daughter taking this course in Applied Science.

Second, the Normal Course. This course occupies three years, and fits young people to be teachers. The training in this course is simply fine. No other school within hundreds of miles provides the practice teaching, college lectures, and other advantages here offered. In many counties all the highest certificates are held by Berea students, and students who have not yet graduated; but only had a part of this Normal Course.

The studies of this course, for those who teach in the fall, is as follows:

FIRST.

FALL Teaching in Public Schools, Winter Arithmetic (1st, 2nd, English 3, Theory and P. S. History, 7, Geography, Spring, Arithmetic (1st, 2nd, Grammar 3, Civics, 3, Reviews, 2, Physiology, 2, S. P. D. D.

FALL Teaching in Public Schools, Winter Algebra 1st, 2nd, Physics and Geography, 3, Higher Arithmetic 3, Practice, 3, Music, 2, Spring Algebra 1st, 2, Botany 1, 2, Higher Arithmetic 1, 2, Practice 3, Music 2, THIRD.

FALL Teaching in Public Schools, Winter English 1st, 2nd, Story 1, 2, Theory and Reviews, 3, History of Education, 3, Spring Psychology 1st, 2nd, History 1, 2, Word Study 3, Reviews 2, School Administration, 3.

Third, the Academy and College Courses. These are for young people who wish to secure a really thorough education, and who have the brain, the purpose, and the time to get the best. In the most prosperous and advanced parts of the world it is not thought that anyone ought to undertake to be a doctor, a lawyer, or a preacher without taking time to find out what other men have learned, and preparing himself by a sufficient course of study. Berea College is one of the very few real colleges in the South. Those who have graduated from the College Course at Berea can take their places among educated people in any part of the world.

Every family within five hundred miles of Berea ought to have at least one child in some department of this great school.

Next week shall say something about the expense of attending Berea.

Correspondence

Jackson County.

Drip Rock.

The wife of Daniel Miller died on the 24th inst.

Rev. R. G. Murray preached for us last week. Rev. James W. Parsons will preach for us on the 1st Saturday and Sunday in August.

Prof. and Mrs. Raymond visited the Teachers Institute and contributed very largely to its success. They have many friends in Jackson.

Messrs. Charley and D. M. Click, S. R. Ballard are spending a few days at H. H. Fowler's and are catching a fine lot of fish out of South Fork.

Tutor Todd's Scientific Lecture was the most important feature of the Institute at McKee this year. Any who failed to attend lost a very rare chance to learn and enjoy.

No one knows the unbearable torture, the peculiar and agonizing pain, caused by Piles, unless they have suffered from them. Many believe them incurable. This is a mistake. Proper treatment will cure them. Tableer's Buckeye Pile Ointment is an infallible cure. Price 50 cts. in bottles, tubes 50 cts. S. E. Welch, Jr.

Clay County.

Bright Side.

Corn crops look exceedingly well in this vicinity.

Joseph Lifford is putting up a full line of goods at the month of Bear Creek.

Letcher Sizemore, Jr. visited the Mammia Baptist school at the month of Redbird.

Letcher Sizemore, Sr. is going into the logging business in Leslie Co. on an extensive scale.

Wm. Wolf who is teaching the Indian Grade school visited Arthur Sizemore last Sunday.

Our school on Bear Creek has commenced with a promising success under the supervision of Simon Delph of Pineyville.

Rev. Noah Smith of Bell Co. is holding a protracted meeting at Skillmore. Nineteen have joined and have been baptized.

Ballard's Snow Liniment gives instant relief in cases of Bleeding, Burns, Bruises, Scalds, Cuts, etc. Price 25 and 50 cts. S. E. Welch, Jr.

Madison County.

Wallacetown.

Mrs. Fannie Baker has been ill for a few days past.

Mrs. H. C. Wylie has been on the sick list this week.

Rev. Howard, aided by Rev. Smith of Berea, began a series of meetings at the M. E. Church last Friday.

E. W. Baker, T. P. Wyatt, E. B. Wallace, Allen Wallace and Kate Wylie attended quarterly meeting at College Hill Saturday and Sunday.

Panora.

J. P. Logsdon shipped a car load of lambs Saturday.

Solomon Tipton and wife visited friends here last week.

J. B. Ledford & Co. shipped five car loads of logs this week.

John Pearson and Butler Mize went to Richmond Saturday.

George Baker and wife visited his sister, Mrs. Milton Owens Thursday.

Mrs. English of Nickelsville is visiting her sister Mrs. John Ledford

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the

PARIS

EXPO.

There's no need

to go to the